DAIRY

T H WHITE COLLABORATES IN INDUSTRY-LEADING UNDERGRADUATE DAIRY ENGINEERING QUALIFICATION

In a regional first, T H WHITE has joined forces with Wiltshire College & University Centre to create a state-of-the-art robotic dairy parlour supporting the development of a dedicated undergraduate Dairy Engineering Qualification.

The course, scheduled to begin in September this year, will be based at the College's Lackham Campus near Chippenham where the 1,700-acre site is home to three working farms. The existing 140-cow dairy unit will be augmented with a new robotic milking parlour featuring two of the latest DeLaval VMS V300 robotic milking units, an advanced Bauer slurry control system plus a day/night LED lighting system. The complete project will be controlled by industry-leading DeLaval software.

Students will be introduced to the remarkable technological advancements that are revolutionising the dairy industry and will be able to study engineering and automation in a real-world environment against a background of business management and animal husbandry. As a full-time two-year course it will lead to a Level 4 BTEC higher qualification (a HND), or part time (HNC). With an entry requirement of a Level 3 qualification in a relevant subject (many of which are already offered at Lackham), the course will be particularly attractive to 16-18 year olds pursuing a rewarding career path.

Commenting on the new course, Amanda Burnside, Principal at the College, said "We are very proud to have designed and created the first dedicated dairy qualification for the sector, aimed at students with a passion for agricultural technology, engineering, science and automation. The new facilities we are building at Lackham, backed by £9 million funding from the Swindon and Wiltshire Local Enterprise Partnership, will be the envy of other farm automation learning providers and will, no doubt, create an amazing training environment for our students".

Plans for the partnership between the College, T H WHITE and DeLaval have progressed during 2019 and a formal agreement of the joint cooperation has been signed. The initiative is now

AGRICULTURE

T5 UTILITY IDEAL FOR SPRING WORK

The New Holland T5 series tractors are well known for their outstanding versatility and the T5 Utility range makes this popular tractor even more affordable.

That doesn't mean the T5 Utility is short on features – in fact it boasts a configuration and lifting capacity that's ideal for much work through the spring season. There are five models in the T5 Utility line-up from 75hp to 114hp, with power provided by a 3.4-litre, four-cylinder FPT engine.

The machines are ready for a loader, and a front linkage can also be specified with a 1000rpm PTO and 1.67t lift capacity. At the back, the T5 Utility has a three-speed PTO and can lift 4.4t. Completing the package is a VisionView cab with air conditioning.

Call your T H WHITE Agriculture rep for details or to arrange a demo.

DAIRY

only subject to planning consent for which an application has been submitted with a decision expected in March. Work on the site will then be expedited, all efforts being co-ordinated towards the new facility and teaching rooms being ready to open soon after the start of the course in September.

As well as installing the new robotic parlour, T H WHITE will be supporting the course by committing to deliver lecture sessions during the year in which CEO Alex Scott and other senior members of the T H WHITE team will discuss business development and innovation in agriculture, with Head of Dairy Nigel Ellis covering the latest in robotic milking, feeding, fertility and other strategies for increased milk yield.

"We believe this initiative is exactly what is required to address the skills gap in the dairy sector," said Alex Scott, "and we are delighted to be working in partnership with the College, as well as industry innovator DeLaval to make it happen. The course will lay a pathway to an attractive career combining technology and farming. To expand the range of studies T H WHITE will provide several work experience placements and offer student access to the company's Frome-based business, from where our expert dairy team operates."

Ciaran Murphy of DeLaval sees the new course as a great opportunity to attract more technically-minded young people to dairying: "DeLaval pioneered the Voluntary Milking System and today's robotic arm on the VMS V300 units is quite something to see in action! Not only does it reduce labour requirements, making milking quick and efficient, but it is also comfortable for the cow. Integrating it with our herd navigator software enables constant monitoring of many health and reproductive factors for each animal, resulting in optimum herd management and higher yields.

"By participating in the partnership at Lackham, DeLaval can provide students with the hands-on experience and technical knowledge that will give them a strong career advantage in this fast-changing area of farming," said Ciaran.

To learn more about the College's Dairy Engineering Course at Lackham or to apply for a place, go to www.wiltshire.ac.uk. Applications are now open and places for this pioneering course are certain be in high demand!

GROUND CARE

ZERO EMISSION PROFESSIONAL BATTERY-POWERED TOOLS

Innovative, zero emission battery-powered tools from French manufacturer Pellenc have been added to the range of equipment offered by T H WHITE Groundcare branches in Redditch, Knockdown, Reading and Stockbridge.

Powered by lithium-ion ultra-high performance batteries, the Pellenc range covers an impressive portfolio – from chainsaws, pole saws and hedge cutters to grass trimmers, brushcutters, blowers and mowers. Each tool incorporates a brushless motor for performance, reliability and durability, at the same time reducing power consumption, weight and overall size. A full day's use on a single charge keeps running costs low, while the light weight and low noise output makes the tools easy and comfortable to use. Not only do the tools produce no emissions, but noise levels are also significantly lower than similar conventional tools, making Pellenc equipment suitable for use at sensitive sites.

Pellenc's newest battery technology is also IP54 water-proof rated, protecting it from dust and moisture while eliminating any concerns around working in the rain. The battery can also be worn on the operator's back in an ergonomic harness, taking weight off the machine, helping improve posture and reduce back pain from carrying heavy tools on one side of the body.

Rob Iddeson, Head of the T H WHITE Groundcare division, is enthusiastic about making the Pellenc range available through the division's branches in Worcestershire, Gloucestershire, Hampshire and Berkshire: "There's an increasing demand for zero-emission products that can compete with the performance of traditional technologies," he said. "That's already a strong sector in the domestic market, but our customers need products that are designed and warranted for the professional user, and Pellenc offers exactly that."

All Pellenc tools and batteries are covered by a three-year commercial warranty as standard, the first manufacturer to offer this on battery-powered tools. As always, T H WHITE will be supporting Pellenc products with our exceptional sales and servicing teams.

To give T H WHITE customers first-hand experience of the quality, power and benefits offered by Pellenc battery tools, we would love to visit you at your own site with our range of demonstration equipment. Just contact your local T H WHITE Groundcare depot to arrange your demonstration or discuss your specific requirements.

PRECISION PLANTING AND FERTILIZING

As official dealers for leading manufacturers Väderstad and Kuhn, T H WHITE can supply all you need for precision planting and fertilising.

It's one thing to plant at high speed, but to do so with exceptional precision is something completely different. Väderstad's latest Tempo L planters – the world record holder for high speed planting – is now available in 8, 12 and 18-row configurations. The air-powered delivery system will place the seed with incredible precision, with a planting depth of ±0.5cm, reducing doubles to 0.35% and skips to 1.21%. A new 3,000 or 5,000 litre fertilizer hopper can also be fitted, depending on the model.

No-till, min-till or conventional tillage – Tempo performs exceptionally in all conditions. The crops gets the best start possible which results in an even emergence.

For tractor-mounted fertiliser spreaders it would be hard to beat the Kuhn Axis; like the majority of the Kuhn farm machinery range you can purchase the Axis at 0% with either 2+22 monthly payments, or 1+2 annual payments, until 30 April only (see facing page)

Talk to your T H WHITE Agricultural rep or any of our branches about the incredible range of machinery to help with planting this season. We would be happy to arrange a demo so you can see for yourself how the unbelievable in precision planting has been made possible!

SHOWING OUR CAPABILITIES AT LAMMA

LAMMA, the UK's largest agricultural event showcasing farm machinery, took place at the NEC Birmingham on 8-9 January 2020.

More than 40,000 visitors and 700-plus exhibitors across 11 halls combined to make it another highly successful show – the perfect shop window for the latest agricultural technology and innovation.

On the T H WHITE Projects stand in Hall 7 a full size dust suppression hopper attracted much interest from visitors seeking to reduce dust emissions on their various sites. Over a very busy two days we welcomed many new and existing clients and suppliers to the stand, discussing their on-site operations and enquiries ranging from servicing of equipment to a new drier, cleaner, and even a potential grain store opportunity. The tired legs and dry throats were well worthwhile!

Inevitably, with the clock ticking on Brexit, there were some interesting debates and discussions between

MAKE THE MOST OF YOUR CAPITAL ALLOWANCES

As we approach the end of the tax year it's worth considering whether you have made the most of your possible capital allowances.

Capital allowances allow you to write off the full value of machinery against your profits, which in turn enables you to reinvest in other areas of your business. These allowances can be claimed by customers against direct purchases and any HP agreement payments made during the year.

If your purchase consideration is made between now and the end of the 2019/20 tax year (5 April), then the attraction of delaying tax due or even receiving a tax refund through an outright purchase or hire purchase may influence your decision.

Although T H WHITE does not provide financial advice, our sales experts will happily provide information on tax implications, but we also strongly advise a conversation with your accountant to advise on the best approach for your individual circumstances.

customers and suppliers on how developments would affect their businesses, investment opportunities, funding and the future of agriculture itself in the UK.

Thanks are due to all of those involved in the planning & implementation of the Projects stand. Next year LAMMA will again be at the NEC and is scheduled to be held on Tuesday/Wednesday 12-13 January 2021 – dates for your diary.
